Conference Report
2014 Hawaii State Association of Counties
Annual Conference
June 12-13, 2014
The Moana Surfrider, Royal Hawaiian Sheraton Waikiki

Thursday, June 12, 2014

I attended day one of the conference to hear opening remarks and guest speaker at the noon-time session, "Workforce for the 21st Century."

Having a keen interest in Hawaii's number one business, I was most eager to hear about "Keeping Pace with Global Tourism." I was particularly interested in the varying views presented by our local professionals not only regarding the tourist industry itself and its importance to our State but also its effect upon other aspects of our communities. It is unfortunate that a certain number of our County's residents have come to resent our Island's visitors. This is an issue that we, as our local communities' representatives, must contemplate seriously and work diligently to resolve.

Thursday evening, during the welcome dinner reception, I had the opportunity to discuss inter-county initiatives with Mayors Carvalho and Kenoi.

Friday, June 13, 2014

I was present for the Friday morning HSAC Executive Committee meeting and General Membership meeting and subsequently attended a most informative session "Preparing for Climate Change." Moderator Jacqueline Kozak-Thiel coordinated an excellent panel that offered comprehensive views on our changing climate. The subjects of global warming and climate change have arisen numerous times in your standing Committee on Zoning and Planning. As chair of this committee, I believe this panel offered a great deal of information which can be a valuable resource in future discussions as the subjects arise.
